Fashion design meets retail on Amazon's 'Making the Cut'

It seems a no-brainer that a fashion competition series would make its winning creations available for sale online. But in the case of Amazon's "Making the Cut," the retail infrastructure was already in place.

Premiering Friday, March 27, the 10-episode reality show brings 12 designers to three of the world's fashion capitals – New York, Paris and Tokyo – to face challenges designed to test their design skills and their ability to run a business. In each episode, they'll be tasked with creating one avant garde concept and one more mainstream design. The winning entry in the latter category – as determined by judges including Naomi Campbell, Nicole Richie, Joseph Altuzarra, Carine Roitfeld and Chiara Ferragni – will then be sold on Amazon's "Making the Cut" store for $100 or less.

The season finale victor receives $1 million to invest in their brand and the opportunity to create an exclusive line for Amazon.

It's an idea that has hosts, executive producers and former "Project Runway" mentors Tim Gunn and Heidi Klum ecstatic over the possibilities, as they told a recent gathering of journalists in Pasadena, Calif.

"For the first time, finally our audience can shop so, it's great.," Klum says. "It's a win/win situation I feel like for everyone. That was very important for me that

In Focus

"She Walks With Apes" (BBC America — new special, April 22)

This new documentary, appropriately airing on the 50th anniversary of Earth Day, chronicles the epic story of three women — Jane Goodall, Dian Fossey and Biruté Galdikas — who dedicated their lives to researching the Great Apes. Science has greatly expanded its knowledge of the animals and the state of the rainforests thanks in large part to these women's efforts. Actress Sandra Oh ("Killing Eve") serves as narrator. we're going to go with a company, such as Amazon, versus other companies, in order to have that component for these designers, because that was never possible before. You see something, you want it, but you can't have it. So here, you have a winning look every week and people can buy it around the world."

"And to be perfectly blunt," Gunn adds, " 'Making the Cut' wouldn't have happened without 'Project Runway.' ... I would say that 'Project Runway' is the undergraduate program and 'Making the Cut' is the graduate and Ph.D. program. In 'Project Runway' we talk about how a sleeve is set into a bodice. You don't hear a conversation like that happening on 'Making the Cut.' It's more about how does this mini-collection you've designed for this particular episode's assignment ... fit into your larger view of your brand? And it really is about finding the next global brand. And we do."

Both hosts point out that "Making the Cut" will be more egalitarian in that its designs will not be just for people of a certain size but all sizes.

"It should be everywhere," Klum says. "Not just on this show, it should be everywhere,"

"And it's seamless," Gunn says. "We don't address it other than the fact that you see it visually in who the models are."

GV Graphic Violence

Director and co-writer Sam Mendes ("American Beauty," "Skyfall") earned wide acclaim and many award nominations for this World War I drama, based largely on his own grandfather's memories of the battle. It traces the efforts of two young British soldiers (played by George MacKay and Dean-Charles Chapman) who literally risk their lives to deliver an important message calling off a planned attack on German forces ... an event that would place the brother of one of the soldiers in jeopardy, though the messengers face a bounty of peril themselves. Of the film's 10 recent Oscar bids, it won the honors for cinematography (a superb job by returning Mendes collaborator Roger Deakins, who accomplishes much of the picture with continuous long takes), visual effects and sound mixing. Among familiar actors backing the central stars are Colin Firth, Benedict Cumberbatch, Andrew Scott ("Fleabag"), Mark Strong and Richard Madden. * (R: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray and 4K Ultra HD)

"THE GRUDGE"

After two earlier versions – the original Japanese film and an American remake – this horror tale gets another workout, this time from writer-director Nicolas Pesce. The basics remain the same as several stories collide, with detectives (Andrea Riseborough, Demian Bichir, William Sadler) investigating a family murdersuicide case that may have supernatural undercurrents. No major character here goes unaffected by ghosts, adding to

"Mental Samurai" (Fox — season premiere, April 22)

Rob Lowe returns to host the second season of this mental obstacle course that sees contestants battling the boundaries of their minds to answer questions accurately with speed and precision. To take the action up a notch, the contestants are then whipped around the arena in a high-speed capsule while it does a series the levels of eeriness and surprise as unpredictable events continue to unfold at a house where tragedy has occurred. John Cho, Betty Gilpin ("GLOW'), Jacki Weaver ("Silver Linings Playbook"), Frankie Faison and genre veteran Lin Shaye also are in the cast of the expectedly unsettling project.  (R: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"TREADSTONE: SEASON ONE"

The "Bourne" espionage series lives on - without Jason Bourne - in this USA Network series that advances elements of the Robert Ludlum novels and the movies made from them. The show involves some producers of the "Bourne" movies, who maintain the premise's international scope, and focuses on other operatives of the highly secretive CIA initiative in Bourne's background. Jeremy Irvine ("War Horse") and Brian J. Smith ("Sense8") are among the stars of the saga of sleeper agents awakened around the world to tackle the missions they were programmed for. Developed by Tim Kring, the creator of "Heroes" and "Crossing Jordan," the adventure-drama also Features Omar Metwally ("The Affair") as a CIA veteran whose troubled past makes him an ideal point person for the so-called Operation of twists and turns. Steel brains and stomachs need apply!

"I Know This Much Is True" (HBO — series premiere, April 27) Three-time Oscar nominee Mark Ruffalo

Three-time Oscar nominee Mark Ruffalo stars in a dual role, playing twins Dominick and Thomas Birdsey, in this six-episode limited drama series. Set in 20th-century America, the story tells about the paralled lives of the two men dealing with betrayal, sacrifice and forgiveness. Melissa Leo, Rosie O'Donnell, Imogen Poots and Archie Panjabi also star.

Treadstone, Tracy Ifeachor ("Quantico") as a reporter who restarts her career by pursuing the Treadstone story, and Michelle Forbes ("Homicide: Life on the Street") and Michael Gaston ("The Man in the High Castle") as other CIA officials. * (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"FRANKENSTEIN: THE TRUE STORY"

One of the very best retellings of author Mary Shelley's horror classic about a doctor obsessed with creating a synthetic man from others' body parts, this madefor-NBC 1973 miniseries debuts on Bluray and boasts excellent performances by Leonard Whiting ("Romeo and Juliet") as Dr. Victor Frankenstein and Michael Sarrazin as his creation. With a hugely literate script by novelist Christopher Isherwood and Don Bachardy, the production also gave audiences another look at Jane Seymour shortly following her international splash as a "Bond girl" in "Live and Let Die." James Mason, Agnes Moorehead. David McCallum, Nicola Pagett, John Gielgud, Ralph Richardson, Margaret Leighton and Michael Wilding also add acting heft to the British-American co-production. Special features include interviews with Seymour and Whiting. * (Not rated: AS, V)

PGA TOUR event in Ponte Vedra Beach is one of many sporting events affected

Due to the COVID-19 outbreak, many sporting events have been canceled or postponed.

The men's and women's NCAA Tournament games were canceled, the NBA and NHL have suspended their seasons indefinitely and Major League Baseball has canceled the remainder of its spring training and pushed opening day — which was scheduled for March 26 — back at least two weeks. Major League Soccer games have been suspended for at least 30 days. The XFL has also canceled the remainder if its season.

Also, along the remainder of THE PLAYERS Championship, the PGA TOUR has canceled the next three events on its schedule — the Valspar Championship, the World Golf Championships-Dell Technologies Match Play and the Valero Texas Open. Augusta National also announced The Masters Tournament, the first PGA TOUR major of the season, will be postponed. The Masters was originally scheduled for April 9-12.

NASCAR postponed last weekend's race at Atlanta Motor Speedway and has postponed this weekend's events at Homestead-Miami Speedway. The IndyCar Series has postponed events through the end of April and Formula One has postponed its next two races — the Bahrain Grand Prix and the Vietnam Grand Prix.

The Boston Marathon has also been pushed back from April 20 until Sept. 14.

Locally, the season opening games for the Jacksonville Jumbo Shrimp have been suspended as Minor League Baseball delays the beginning of the season, and the Jacksonville Icemen hockey team's games have been canceled as the ECHL has suspended its 2019-2020 season.

THE PLAYERS Championship canceled amid coronavirus concerns

THE PLAYERS Championship was canceled late Thursday, March 12, amid growing concerns over COVID-19. The PGA TOUR event, scheduled for March 12-15 at THE PLAYERS Stadium Course at TPC Sawgrass in Ponte Vedra Beach, held its opening events and played the first round last Thursday, but PGA TOUR Commissioner Jay Monahan decided later that night to cancel the event after speaking with President Donald Trump and Gov. Ron DeSantis, and as other sporting events and festivities were halted in response to the coronavirus crisis.

Vivian Howard goes 'Somewhere South' to find the foods that connect cultures

Vivian Howard was ready to move on. After five seasons hosting and producing her Peabody and Daytime Emmy Awardwinning culinary/documentary series "A Chef's Life," about the ups and downs of running an upscale restaurant in her rural community, the Kinston, N.C.-based chef realized her interests had evolved and wanted to try something else. She also wasn't all that crazy about putting her personal life on camera.

Which is what led her to create "Somewhere South." Premiering Friday, March 27, on PBS (check local listings), the six-part hourlong series sees Howard taking a culinary tour of the changing South to find the dishes that connect us all – be they noodles, hand pies, dumplings or porridges – though expressed differently in different cultures. Along the way, she learns new things and discovers how sharing a meal can create a comfortable place where meaningful conversations can take place.

Among the places she visits are Charleston, S.C., where she samples grits with rice middlins made by Gullah chefs; North Carolina, where she tries the collard sandwich, a staple of Lumbee Indian cuisine; and in Friday's premiere, West Virginia to learn how to make the pepperoni roll, a hand food popular with local coal miners.

"Pepperoni rolls are an American adaptation of a snack in Italy or Sicily," Howard explains, "where a lot of the coal miners in West Virginia came from. And so they settled in Fairmont, W.Va., and because they needed to go down in the mines and have lunch, housewives were packing up rolls and sticks of pepperoni. And some ingenious housewife one day decided to roll up the pepperoni in a roll and bake it and it became really West Virginia's ubiquitous dish."

"I had lots of friends in West Virginia and they would come back from spring break with just trays of pepperoni rolls," she continues, "And I had never heard of it but as a teen living in a dorm, I was like super into it, so I had this connection to the pepperoni roll and really as a hand pie or the food of labor, the food of convenience."

In another episode, Howard heads to Savannah, Ga., to sample another crosscultural staple, the local porridge. For this, she drops in on chef Mashama Bailey at The Grey, a converted bus station, to try its variations on the traditional dish.

"We all have a porridge," Howard says. "Everybody has a noodle, everyone has a hand pie, everyone has a pickle. And so in the porridge episode, we really dig into grits as a porridge."

"And so we tour her restaurant," she continues, "and she makes a very humble porridge and a very elevated porridge. And we talk about how in the South and really like the United States over, chefs are taking very humble food traditions and exalting them and making them fancy."

"Movie: I See You"

Strange events and a mysterious presence plague a small-town police detective (Jon Tenney, "Major Crimes") investigating the disappearance of a boy that appears connected to a previous series of abductions in this 2019 horror movie from director Adam Randall ("iBoy"). Helen Hunt, Judah Lewis, Owen Teague and Erika Alexander also star.

"Movie: Jay and Silent Bob Reboot"

Director Kevin Smith's titular stoners played by him and Jason Mewes return for another dubious adventure in this 2019 comedy movie, this time hitting the road across country to Hollywood to stop a reboot of the "Bluntman and Chronic" movie from being made. Joey Lauren Adams, Ben Affleck, Melissa Benoist, Diedrich Bader and Jason Biggs are also in the solid cast.

"Luther"

The four-episode fifth and final season of this British crime drama picks up immediately after the events of Season 4 and finds the title detective played by Idris Elba and Catherine Halliday (Wunmi Mosaku) on the trail of serial killer Jeremy Lake (Enzo Cilenti) after his and Dr. Vivien Lake's (Hermione Norris) lair is discovered. Patrick Malahide and Ruth Wilson are also cast returnees.

"Making the Cut"

From hosts and executive producers Tim Gunn and Heidi Klum comes this competition series that tests the design and business skills of 12 contestants, who each episode are tasked with creating winning fashion designs that will then be sold on Amazon's "Making the Cut" store for $100 or less. The champion in the season finale receives $1 million to invest in their brand and the opportunity to create an exclusive line for Amazon. Naomi Campbell, Nicole Richie and Joseph Altuzarra are among the indogs (ORIGINAL)
