BY GEORGE DICKIE

"Broke" premieres Thursday on CBS.

Anyone who has followed Natasha Leggero's career knows she likes to mine class differences for laughs, be it in her stand-up comedy or film and TV roles. Which makes her latest project right up her alley.

In the multi-camera comedy "Broke," premiering Thursday, April 2, on CBS, Leggero ("Another Period," "The Do-Over") co-stars with Pauley Perrette ("NCIS") as Elizabeth and Jackie, working-class sisters who took divergent paths in life. While Elizabeth apparently married well with Javier (Jaime Camil, "Jane the Virgin"), stunningly handsome and heir to a Mexican family fortune, Jackie is a struggling single mom and divorcee with a young son and a ramshackle house in the Los Angeles suburb of Reseda.

But it turns out Elizabeth's life isn't so great, either. Spendthrifts and wastrels, they've gone through all of Javier's trust-fund money and Daddy has cut them off. With nary a dime to their name, they turn up on Jackie's doorstep seeking refuge – and Jackie isn't all that crazy about taking the people she resentfully refers to as "Aunt Hoity and Uncle Toity," as well as their manservant Luis (Izzy Diaz, "Telenovela"), in. But she does so – grudgingly.

The role gave Leggero the chance to play to her own strength to paint Elizabeth as a nouveau-riche princess with a full catalog of affectations, who is embarrassed by her working-class background and horrified by her new surroundings.

"I've always been obsessed with class," Leggero explains. "And even if you're not a certain class, why can't you just act like you're that class? And that's a lot of what I have done in my stand-up and so playing this part is really fun for me because it feels like an exact fit."

And those affectations also extend to Elizabeth's refined faux accent.

"I think people who travel a lot can sort of start talking in this Trans-Atlantic accent," Leggero says with a laugh. "And you know, it's just something that I think people who come from nothing try to affect a little bit to try to keep up with the other people who just all went to (elite schools)."

The role brought Leggero into the orbit of Perrette in her first TV role since her 15-season run on "NCIS" ended in 2018. She has high praise for her co-star for her ability to establish connections with everyone in the cast and crew and for the "instant chemistry" that has fostered.

"We did talk on the phone before we met," Leggero says. "She wanted to talk to everybody on the phone before we started shooting because that's just kind of who she is, she's just very down-to-earth. And so we talked for like an hour and she has a sister she's really close to, so I'm sure that helps her, having that close sister relationship."

In Focus

"Biography: Dolly Parton" (A&E Network — new special, April 12)

This new special traces singer/songwriter Dolly Parton's extraordinary journey from her childhood spent in poverty and early days in Nashville, Tenn., to her multiple hit songs and recent 50th anniversary celebration at The Grand Ole Opry. Featured interviews include Lily Tomlin, Chris Stapleton, Jane Fonda, Kylie Minogue and Parton herself.

What's Available NOW On hulu

“Margaret Atwood: A Word after a Word is Power”

This documentary from filmmakers Nancy Lang and Peter Raymont follows Atwood as she jets to speaking engagements around the world, visits the set of “The Handmaid’s Tale” and takes a family vacation. It also explores her early days in the Canadian wilderness as well as her various novels. (ORIGINAL)

“iHeartRadio Music Awards”

From Shrine Auditorium in Los Angeles, singer and songwriter Usher hosts this year’s ceremonies celebrating the past year’s most popular songs and musical performers. Fresh from her recent triumph at the Grammy Awards, where she swept the “big four” major categories, Billie Eilish is tied with Shawn Mendes in the competitive categories, with seven nods each. Taylor Swift and Camila Cabello follow closely with six nominations apiece. Up for best new pop artist are Lizzo, Ava Max, FLETCHER, Lewis Capaldi and Lil Nas X.

“Movie: PawParazzi”

Sara Fletcher (“House of Darkness”) has the lead role of a rising starlet who arrives on the set of her latest movie with her spoiled Pomeranian in tow to find out she won’t be getting the star treatment in this 2018 family comedy from director Ari Novak (“Himalayan Ice”). Jay Mohr, Richard Riehle and Russell Bradley Fenton are also in the cast.

“Future Man”

The third and final season of this comedy series continues the adventures of Josh, Tiger and Wolf, who are on the lam through time, trying desperately to evade capture while clearing their names and fixing the big mess of history they’ve made along the way. Josh Hutcherson, Eliza Coupe and Derek Wilson head the returning cast. (ORIGINAL)

"STAR WARS: THE RISE OF SKYWALKER"

Devotees of the George Lucas-created "galaxy far, far away" are understandably particular about the treatment of it in each new chapter, and while this latest one — directed and co-written by J.J. Abrams — wraps up a lot, it received mixed reactions from the Jedi-faithful. The race is on by characters both veteran and recently introduced to stop the establishment of a new intergalactic Empire overseen by the Emperor Palpatine (Ian McDiarmid), thought to have been eliminated by king evildoer Darth Vader (whose voice still is furnished by Billy Dee Williams), and Kylo Ren (Adam Driver). Carrie Fisher appears again as Leia Organa via footage that wasn't used in "Star Wars: The Force Awakens," and Mark

Hamill fulfills the title's promise by returning as Luke Skywalker. Daisy Ridley, John Boyega, Oscar Isaac, Lupita Nyong'o, Billy Dee Williams and Anthony Daniels (as C-3PO) also are back, and Richard E. Grant and Keri Russell (who was television's "Felicity" for Abrams) are among notable newcomers. ★★★ (PG-13: V) (Also on Blu-ray and 4K Ultra HD)

"THE CURRENT WAR"

The title of Alfonso Gomez-Rejon's drama is quite clever, since the reference is to "current" as in "electric current" — the source of the 19th-century rivalry between Thomas Edison and George Westinghouse, played here by Benedict

Cumberbatch and Michael Shannon, respectively. As the two innovators competed for cities to adopt the electricity-delivery system each man had developed, personal and professional hurdles arose in the path of each of them. Nicholas Hoult portrays Nikola Tesla, who lent his own expertise to each of the inventors at one time or another; the fine cast also includes Katherine Waterston, Tom Holland and "Succession's" Matthew Macfadyen. ★★★ (PG-13: AS, V) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"MR. ROBOT: THE COMPLETE FOURTH SEASON"

It's entirely possible that without the Emmy-winning success he had with this immensely unique USA Network series, Rami Malek might not have landed the Freddie Mercury role that brought him an Oscar for "Bohemian Rhapsody," nor the central-villain slot in the soon-to-debut James Bond caper "No Time to Die." This concluding stanza of writer-producer-director Sam Esmail's saga finds his character Elliot still a pawn of various forces in a cyberwar, though his life expectancy appears to have been shortened considerably — forcing him to use his own devices, both figurative and literal, to try to prevent that from taking effect. Carly Chaikin, Portia Doubleday, Michael Cristofer, Grace Gummer and BD Wong also continue as cast regulars ... at least when these final stories begin. A "Complete Series" set also is newly available. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P, V) (Also on Blu-ray)

"CODA"

Though he's on "Star Trek: Picard" turf by reprising a signature character on television these days, Patrick Stewart has quite a different role in this drama, in which he has an intriguing partnership with Katie Holmes. He plays a veteran concert pianist whose development of stage fright threatens to cripple his career, but the music critic portrayed by Holmes turns out to be a surprising source of encouragement for him to move past his fears. Despite some cliches that the script can't avoid, it provides a solid part for Stewart, and he makes the most of it. Giancarlo Esposito also stars for director Claude Laloonde. ★★★ (Not rated: AS, P)

"MUNSTER, GO HOME!"

Most of the cast of the mid-1960s sitcom that played horror for laughs transitioned to this 1966 big-screen spinoff, now making its Blu-ray debut. Released just after the television series ended, the tale takes Herman (Fred Gwynne) — the Frankenstein-monster-like patriarch of an offbeat family — to England to claim an inheritance, with the rest of his clan in tow. They're targeted for scares, but their enemies clearly don't realize they're dealing with the Munsters. Yvonne De Carlo, Al Lewis and Butch Patrick continue their roles, and the major recasting is Debbie Watson as relatively "normal" daughter Marilyn. Co-stars include Terry-Thomas, Hermione Gingold, Richard Dawson, Robert Pine (father of Chris) and fright-film staple John Carradine. Special features include the 1981 TV-movie "The Munsters' Revenge," also with Gwynne, De Carlo and Lewis. ★★★ (Not rated)

Konecny a model of consistency for Flyers

Travis Konecny has always been a solid player but this year he's stepped it up a notch.

Indeed, in their 23-year-old center, the Philadelphia Flyers have a player who has blossomed into an All-Star in his fourth season. As of early March, the London, Ontario, native already has career-best totals in points (60) and assists (37) with his top goal mark of 24 likely to fall at any time. His 184 career points is the seventh highest total for Flyers age 22 and younger (Bobby Clarke is next on the list with 190) and in January, he made his first All-Star appearance.

There at Enterprise Center in St. Louis, he put his passing prowess on display during the three-on-three action featuring the world's best players, as he finished with three assists in the Metropolitan Division's 9-5 semifinal loss to the Atlantic Division. And to top it off, his parents were watching him in the stands.

"I had a lot of fun," Konecny said via a Flyers public relations representative afterward. "It was pretty funny, I was watching my parents in the stands and my mom didn't understand why we weren't playing like a real game."

Yes, his performance this season is making the six-year, $33 million contract he signed in Sept. 2019 look like a bargain for the Flyers but it's certain both parties will take the numbers he's producing – especially if that means more All-Star Games and playoff wins.

The NHL has suspended its season until further notice amid the COVID-19 pandemic.

NAME: Travis Konecny
BIRTH DATE: March 11, 1997
BIRTHPLACE: London, Ontario
HEIGHT/WEIGHT: 5 feet 10 inches/184 pounds

TEAMS: Philadelphia Flyers (2016-present)
DRAFT: Selected in the first round (24th overall) by the Flyers in 2015

POSITION: Center
NO.: 11
DID YOU KNOW?: Is a second cousin of Bo Horvat of the Vancouver Canucks

Guess Who?

Trisha Yearwood on cooking for family and friends – with or without Garth

Trisha Yearwood likes to experiment when she's creating recipes for one of her cookbooks or her Food Network series "Trisha's Southern Kitchen." So she's often open to suggestions from her husband, fellow country artist Garth Brooks.

"That's one of the things that I've learned really from Garth, actually," she explains. "I was always like, 'Follow the recipes to the letter' and he was always was the, 'What if you throw tortellini in there? How would that be?'"

"Tortellini's a thing for him," she adds with a laugh, "but it really did kind of get me to stop being so rigid. ... So it's fun to take something that kind of is basic that you know and then throw in some tortellini and see what happens."

Now in its 16th season Saturdays at midday, the 30-minute program returns Yearwood to the kitchen to share more of her favorite family recipes. As a skilled home cook with no formal training, she delights in making home-cooked meals when she's not recording or touring. Whether it's for family, bandmates or a day with the girls, there is always a story behind each of Yearwood's recipes.

Interestingly, Yearwood's culinary career came about as the result of a family project.

She was interested in preserving all her family's recipes in a cookbook. The result was the 2008 bestseller "Georgia Cooking in an Oklahoma Kitchen." Two other bestselling cookbooks followed, as did "Trisha's Southern Kitchen," which won a Daytime Emmy Award in 2013.

It's been a labor of love ever since.

"I think I cook like most people do," Yearwood says. "I didn't think when I was a little girl that I was going to have a cooking show. I just liked to cook and the first book was a chance for me to get the recipes of my mom, my day and my grandparents all together. You know, most of us have those family cookbooks and if you don't have one I encourage you to do it because when those folks are gone and those things aren't written down, you're going to wish you had them. That was really the goal for the first book."

"Never did I dream it would turn into this," she continues. "But because it comes out of something that I really enjoy and I get to have those people – my sister, my best buddies – on the show, I get to keep my folks alive and I get to make those recipes and tell those stories, and it's been really a joy. It's something I really didn't even know I wanted to do that I really enjoy doing."

TALES FROM THE LOOP

“Tales From the Loop”

Inspired by the paintings of Simon Stalenhag, this sci-fi series from creator Nathaniel Halpern (“Outcast,” “Legion”) follows the adventures of those who live above the Loop, a machine built to unlock and explore the mysteries of the universe — things that previously were relegated to the realm of science fiction. Rebecca Hall (“Vicky Cristina Barcelona”), Jonathan Pryce (“The Two Popes”) and Paul Schneider (“Parks and Recreation”) head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“Patrick Melrose”

This five-part miniseries stars Benedict Cumberbatch (“The Imitation Game,” “Sherlock”) in the title role of a wealthy Englishman who attempts to overcome his addictions and demons wrought by his father’s abuse and his mother’s neglect. Jennifer Jason Leigh, Hugo Weaving and Jessica Raine are also in the stellar cast.

“Movie: Show Dogs”

Max (voice of Chris “Ludacris” Bridges), a Rottweiler working as a K-9 police dog, and his human partner, FBI agent Frank Nicholas (Will Arnett), pose as a show dog and his trainer to infiltrate the prestigious Canine Invitational Dog Show in Las Vegas, where they suspect an animal smuggling ring is operating, in this 2018 buddy comedy from director Raja Gosnell. Natasha Lyonne co-stars among the human actors; Jordin Sparks, RuPaul, Gabriel Iglesias, Shaquille O’Neal, Stanley Tucci and Alan Cumming also are featured in the voice cast.

“Movie: Richard: The Lionheart”

From Italian filmmaker Stefano Milla (“Gladiator Games”) comes this 2013 action-adventure movie about the son of King Henry II, who finds his loyalty and honor tested by his father when he is sent to a hellish prison. Malcolm McDowell, Greg Maness and Burton Perez head the cast.
