Looking back on great Super Bowl plays after a year of uncertainty

Like just about everything in American life the last year, Super Bowl LV will look different.

Indeed, when the Kansas City Chiefs and Tampa Bay Buccaneers square off in the NFL title game on Sunday, Feb. 7, on CBS, both teams, announcers Jim Nantz and Tony Romo and viewers at home will likely be seeing a Raymond James Stadium in Tampa, Fla., that will be filled to only 20 percent of its approximately 66,000-fan capacity, meaning about 13,000 attendees and a lot of cardboard figures. This per league pandemic protocols, and as usual, that could change by kickoff.

But what is known is there will likely be a play, a drive or a defensive stand that will have everyone talking Monday morning. It could be a seemingly impossible catch on fourth and long, a key interception in the closing seconds or a long field goal as time runs out. But it will be something for which this game will be remembered.

The following are a few from Super Bowls past that stand out.

"The Tackle" (Super Bowl XXXIV: St. Louis Rams vs. Tennessee Titans, 2000): Ahead 23-16 with 10 seconds remaining, Rams linebacker Mike Jones brought down Titans wide receiver Kevin Dyson one-yard shy of the goal line as time ran out, thus preserving the Rams' heart-stopping victory.

"The Helmet Catch" (Super Bowl XLII: New England Patriots vs. New York Giants, 2008): Giants WR David Tyree hauls down a 32-yard pass from Eli Manning, pinning the ball against his helmet as he fell, a critical closingseconds play that kept the game-winning drive alive in New York's 17-14 upset of the previously undefeated Pats.

"The Stop" (Super Bowl XVI: Cincinnati Bengals vs. San Francisco 49ers, 1982): It was only one yard the Bengals needed to get into the end zone and back into what was a 20-7 game in the third quarter. But the defense didn't give an inch in four plays, the Niners regained possession and went on to a 26-21 victory.

"Elway's Helicopter Spin" (Super Bowl XXXII: Denver Broncos vs. Green Bay Packers, 1998): At third and six from the Packers' 12 in the third quarter of a tie game, Broncos quarterback John Elway's decision to leap head-first over a trio of Packers defenders resulted in a spinning first down - and ultimately the game-deciding drive in a 31-24 Denver triumph.

"Riggins' Run" (Super Bowl XVII: Miami Dolphins vs. Washington Redskins, 1983): Down 17-13 and needing a yard to continue a third quarter drive, Washington called on bruising running back John Riggins to go off tackle to get the first down. But he did a little better, bouncing off defenders and rambling 43 yards for the score in a Washington 27-17 win.

The Ambush": (Super Bowl XLIV: Indianapolis Colts vs. New Orleans Saints, 2010): After watching his team sleep-walk through two quarters, Saints coach Sean Payton called for a onside kick to start the second half. The gutsy move paid off as New Orleans recovered, drove down the field for a touchdown that gave them the lead and momentum in what would become a Saints 31-17 victory.

"SPUTNIK"

Though director Egor Abramenko's acclaimed Russian thriller – which has definite echoes of "Alien" – involves that country's titular space program, much of it unfolds on Earth after a mid-1980s intergalactic mission goes wrong. Only one of the two cosmonauts on board (played by Pyotr Fyodorov) survives, but something definitely is not right with him upon his return ... and if you are indeed familiar with "Alien," you might be able to guess the problem before it reveals itself here. A psychiatrist (Oksana Akinshina) uses all of her professional wiles to solve the situation, which relies on matters of the mind as much as anything physical. Veteran actor-director Fyodor Bonardchuk also stars.  (Not rated: AS, N, GV) (Also on Blu-ray and On Demand)

"LOVE STORY"

Some movies transcend being films to become genuine pop-culture events, as was the case with this romantic classic, marking its 50th anniversary (actually, just past it) with a newly restored "Paramount Presents" Blu-ray edition. Ryan O'Neal plays wealthy Harvard hockey player Oliver, who falls for "poor but smart" Radcliffe music student Jenny (Ali MacGraw) while grappling with his father's (Ray Milland) high expectations for him. John Marley also does excellent, Oscar-nominated work as Jenny's father in the script by Erich Segal, which Paramount bought and first had him turn into a novel that became a bestseller – cleverly fueling the public's desire for the movie. And look closely at the fleeting shots of Oliver's roommates: One of them is Tommy Lee Jones. The memorable music score is by Francis Lai. Bonus features include an audio commentary by director Arthur Hiller and an introduction by Turner Classic Movies' Ben Mankiewicz.  (PG: AS, N, P)

"MASTERPIECE: ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL"

One of the most beloved dramas in the history of public television is getting a remake on the PBS anthology series now marking its 50th anniversary, and while it's still airing on PBS, the new version makes its home-video debut ... enabling those who get it early to see the concluding episodes before they're broadcast. In his TV debut, Nicholas Ralph assumes the role of James Herriot)the pen name of James Alfred Wight), the British veterinarian whose 1930s experiences with animals and their owners in the Yorkshire Dales – where this edition was filmed on location - inspired the simultaneously amusing and sentimental best seller that the screen retellings have been based upon. A particularly notable cast member here is Diana Rigg, who had what turned out to be one of her final roles as a Herriot client. Samuel West plays Herriot's boss, with Anna Madeley, Callum Woodhouse, Rachel Shenton and Matthew Lewis also in the cast. $\star\star\star$ (Not rated: AS) (Also on Blu-ray)

"MARGARET ATWOOD: A WORD AFTER A WORD AFTER A WORD IS POWER"

With a long-standing fan base that only has grown with the success of the streaming-series version of her book "The Handmaid's Tale," the Canadian author is profiled this documentary. She and others discuss her personal history, in which writing and activism have not been mutually exclusive, as any "Handmaid's" devotee likely has determined. Atwood reflects on what the popularity of that story in particular has meant to her, especially as it relates to very current social issues. Several of the people pivotal to the Hulu run of "The Handmaid's Tale," star Elisabeth Moss and executive producers Warren Littlefield and Bruce Miller, are among those commenting here.  (Not rated: AS, P)

"AURORA TEAGARDEN 6-MOVIE COLLECTION"

"Full House" alum Candace Cameron Bure has become one of the staples of Hallmark Channel and Hallmark Movies & Mysteries, with projects including this franchise - based on books by Charlaine Harris, whose works alo inspired "True Blood" – that casts the actress as a librarian whose literary knowledge comes in handy as she plays amateur sleuth. She gets help from the Real Murders Club, a crime-buff group whose collective experience often proves beneficial to Aurora. Because this is a Hallmark venture, the cases are presented on a "Murder, She Wrote" level, with only scant violence shown. Marilu Henner also stars as Aurora's real-estate-agent mother; new entries in the series already have started running this year. (Not rated: AS)

Djokovic goes for three in a row at Melbourne

If you're looking for a favorite in the men's field at the 2021 Australian Open, look no further than Novak Djokovic.

BY GEORGE DICKIE

Indeed, the 33-year-old Serb and World No. 1 has has been the big man on campus at Melbourne Park since his debut there in 2005, owning a record eight singles titles (including championships in the 2019 and 2020 tournaments), a perfect 8-0 mark in finals play and an overall 75-8 won-lost record across 16 events. And his eight wins at the tennis year's first major make up almost half of his 17 titles in the Grand Slams.

His victory last year Down Under was far from his easiest. Mourning the death of his friend Kobe Bryant in a helicopter crash days earlier, Djokovic was met by stiff competition from Dominic Thiem in the final. Struggling with his energy levels and consistency early, he fell behind to the 26-year-old Austrian two sets to one. But a break point that Djokovic managed to save in the fourth set turned the tide and he went on to win that set, 6-3, before taking command and slamming the door on his opponent in the fifth, 6-4.

Afterward, Djokovic was as relieved as he was celebratory. "Definitely my favorite court and my favorite stadium in the world," he said at the end of the gut-wrenching see-saw final, which lasted nearly four hours.

Djokovic will return to defend his title from top-ranked players including Thiem, Rafael Nadal, Daniil Medvedev, Stefanos Tsitsipas and Andrey Rublev when the 2021 Australian Open gets going Sunday Feb. 7 and airs through Feb. 21 on ESPN and ESPN2.

Get that kitchen in shape with tips from YouTube content creators

The holidays are history. You're bored, quarantined and likely looking Home Decor tackles the problem for a project to distract you from what is surely a long, cold winter ahead. So why not take a look at the kitchen?

Yes, any home cook worth their salt knows that an organized kitchen not only saves space but also is the key to a smooth-functioning cooking operation. And from that, better meals will undoubtedly result.

A number of videos and channels on YouTube take on this very topic, a few of which are detailed below.

"10 Easy Kitchen Organization Ideas 2021" (www.youtube.com/ watch?vPzdRG5epr4Q): Get the new year off right with interior designer Kristen McGowan, your host for this informative video that offers up budget-friendly ways of getting your kitchen in order, focusing on the countertop, pantry, cupboard and drawers. With a little imagination and a few glass containers, she transforms a kitchen in disarray into one that looks neat and tidy, if not stylish. She even has ideas for what to do with that open bag of pet food.

"Refrigerator Organization Ideas" (www.youtube.com/ watch?vgvfkR6fw1lw): Another area that seems to be a magnet for disorganization and mess is the fridge. This video from LGQueen starting with giving the appliance a good cleaning inside and out. Then, clear containers for items like eggs, fruits and vegetables allow for at-aglance access to contents. In the end, they say, you'll have more room, there will be a place for everything and things won't look so cluttered.

"Small Pantry Organization" (www. youtube.com/watch?vGb3qOZIPtfA): From Carissa Nunez of "Carissa Cleans It All" comes this video in which she uses inexpensive organizers, glass jars and dry food containers to get her small closet pantry in ship shape and maximize its limited space. And the best part of it is the cost for the materials comes in at just under $100. Just the solution for those on a budget

"Master the Mess" (www.youtube. com/watch?v52017XT9rHg): Yes, it has production values more on par with a reality show but this series from professional organizers Clea Shearer and Joanna Teplin offers up some legitimate solutions as they tend to their clients' home organization problems in the Nashville, Tenn., area. Two videos that address the pantry and fridge aim to resolve some messy and in some cases unhealthy storage situations.

"Movie: Bliss"

Mike Cahill ("Another Earth") directed this mind-bending sci-fi drama that stars Owen Wilson ("Midnight in Paris") as a recently divorced man who meets a mysterious homeless woman (Salma Hayek, "Like a Boss") and together they become convinced that the broken world around them is actually a computer simulation. Madeline Zima ("Californication"), Nesta Cooper and Joshua Leonard also star. (ORIGINAL)

You needn't be a jazz fan to enjoy Ken Burns' 2001 documentary miniseries but you may be one by the time it's over. Along with the profiles and film clips of legends like Louis Armstrong and Duke Ellington, it has plenty of history lessons, including a look at jazz's impact on race relations, and vice versa. Wynton Marsalis provides insight.

"Grantchester"

Based on "The Grantchester Mysteries," the collection of short stories by James Runcie, this British detective series follows the adventures of vicars Sidney Chambers (James Norton) and William Davenport (Tom Brittney), who develop a second job as sleuths with the help of Detective Inspector Geordie Keating (Robson Green). Seasons 1-5 stream here.

"Movie: Gretel & Hansel"

Oz Perkins, Anthony Perkins' ("Psycho") son, helmed this 2020 horror film adapted from the classic Grimm fairy tale. Sophia Lillis stars as Gretel, a plucky 16-year-old who recently lost her father. Ordered to search for food in the dark woods with her kid brother, Hansel (Samuel J. Leakey), she stumbles upon the home of a dangerous witch (Alice Krige).
