Aliens attack the Waverider in Season 6 of 'DC's Legends of Tomorrow'

After locating the Loom of Fate and getting back their slain comrades last season, the Legends face an enemy unlike any they've encountered as "DC's Legends of Tomorrow" opens for Season 6.

Premiering Sunday, May 2, on The CW, the new round finds the superhero crew of the time ship Waverider going in search of their co-captain Sara Lance (Caity Lotz) after she's abducted by space aliens – who as it turns out have the ability to travel through time. So it will take the collective powers and then some of her co-captain and significant other Ava Sharpe (Jes Macallan), plus occult detective John Constantine (Matt Ryan), reformed arsonist Mick Rory (Dominic Purcell) and historian Nate Heywood (Nick Zano), among others, to retrieve their comrade and save the universe from these intergalactic interlopers.

And these creatures are particularly repulsivelooking, sporting squid-like tentacles, tusks and an exoskeleton, which showrunner Phil Klemmer explains is a nod to the Roger Corman B-movie aliens of the late 20th century.

"Our show doesn't take itself too seriously," Klemmer says, "and we wanted to make a point of taking aliens not too seriously, and we didn't really want it to be heavy or a metaphor for anything. We just wanted them to be stupid aliens because I guess our impulse as writers is ... always to come to understand their pathology and to rehabilitate them. And at a certain point, we just had to come up with, 'How can we have just the baddies be baddies?'

"So we kind of shed our desire to complicate everything, and so we just wanted to lean back into the kind of frothy, trashy, low-budget alien stuff. But at the same time that allowed us hopefully to find emotional depth with our (regular) characters."

In addition to the abduction/alien storyline, the new season will feature turns in the director's chair by Lotz, Macallan and former cast member Maisie Richardson-Sellers as well as the arrival of a new character, a pistol-packing Texan named Spooner played by "Chicago P.D." alum Lisseth Chavez.

After six seasons, the actors have gotten to know their characters inside and out and Klemmer says their performances have helped inform how the writers write them.

"It really becomes a dialog with the performers ..," he explains. "The real challenge comes from a new character before you get to see what the performer's take is. And so for Lisseth Chavez, who plays Spooner, it's so interesting because we had the conception of Spooner and we wrote the premiere. But then when we watched the premiere and we hear her voice ... that allows you to really start refining it, and our actors are just always digging deeper. ... The truth is you could dig in with any of these characters.

"You know, you could have a Gary episode," Klemmer says, referring to the time-bureau agent played by Adam Tsekhman, "and you might miss the rest of the characters but you'll be wholly immersed in Gary's world. And that's the cool thing about our show, is it has a kind of endless ability to mutate itself."

"Duncanville" (Fox — season premiere, May 23)

Imaginative teenager Duncan (Amy Poehler) and his secret crush, Mia (Rashida Jones), return as this delightful animated comedy series opens Season 2 with a pair of back-to-back episodes. Former "Parks and Recreation" cast mates Adam Scott, Aubrey Plaza, Retta and Nick Offerman are featured in guest voice roles. The regular cast also includes Ty Burrell, Riki Lindhome, Wiz Khalifa, Joy Osmanski, Betsy Sodaro, Yassir Lester and Zach Cherry.

In Focus

"Between Black and Blue: Season 1" (Sundance Now — series premiere, May 25) From writer/director/producer Sheldon Wilson ("Once Upon a Crime: The Borrelli Davis Conspiracy") comes this original true-crime documentary series about the fight of New York City detectives Michael Borrelli and Robert Davis to clear their names in the 1975 sensational murder case of a Denver businessman. The decades-long hunt for answers might be found in one of the confessed gunmen, who was placed into witness protection by law enforcement more than 40 years ago.

"Baggio: The Divine Ponytail" (Netflix documentary premiere, May 26)

was manufactured in Paris, France. In 1986, a vandal shot the lens at the top of the tower, damaging 19 of its 370 prisms. Then President of the Junior Service League of St. Augustine, Virginia Whetstone, spearheaded a first-of-its-kind restoration project with Dan Spinella of Disney Corporation. Taking advantage of breakthroughs in laser technology, Dan measured the prisms and created the means to fabricate a new bullseye panel and 18 other prisms.

Two Coast Guardsmen, Joseph Cocking, and Nicholas Johnston, who still service the Fresnel lens today, took out the damaged parts, replaced them, and aligned the beam correctly. Initially thought of as an impossible task for a fledgling non-profit, a team effort ensured the Fresnel lens restoration, which served as a pilot project that led to other original lens restorations across the United States.

BY GEORGE DICKIE Yankees put Sanchez on a short leash in 2021

In the category of enigmatic players, we present for your consideration Gary Sanchez.

Indeed, in their sixth-year catcher, the New York Yankees have someone whose production hasn't always matched his talent. And from year to year, they never know what player they're getting.

Is he "The Cracken," who burst onto the scene in 2016 with 20 home runs and a 1.032 OPS in 53 games and followed that up year later with a 33 homer, .876 OPS campaign? Or is he the flailing hitter who struggled through 2020 with a woeful .147 batting average and wound up being benched in favor of journeyman Kyle Higashioka in the playoffs?

For his part, Sanchez knows 2021 is make or break for him and improvements need to be made. Toward that end, he worked with Bomber hitting coaches Marcus Thames and P.J. Pilittere on keeping his weight back, letting the pitch travel more and putting a compact swing on the ball. He also took extra at-bats playing winter ball in the Dominican Republic. As for his defense, which was never a strength, Sanchez will go back to a one-knee stance, with which he has grown more comfortable after introducing it in 2020.

Whether his offseason work will pay dividends is still too early to tell. Though the season's first four games, Sanchez had two bombs but he also displayed some of the same maddening tendencies that got him house in the first place. Whether he can head that off and unleash his monstrous power 162-game season remains to be demonstrated.

Yankees can be seen in action at home against the Houston Astros in a game airing ESPN.

Goldman explains the science behind cooking BY GEORGE DICKIE and baking on 'Duff's Happy Fun Bake Time'

Duff Goldman wants to make the science behind cooking and baking fun and interesting, which is why he's stepping out of his comfort zone to explain it all on "Duff's Happy Fun Bake Time."

Part kids show, part cooking instruction, the currently streaming discovery+ series finds the baker and "Ace of Cakes" personality in his laboratory kitchen with his puppet crew from The Jim Henson Company creating delicious dishes and explaining how the various ingredients interact with heat and one another to produce the final product.

It's an idea that came to Goldman, a new father, as he was watching "Sesame Street" and he came up with sketches of characters, which he then brought to the Henson people. They liked it and a show was born, thus putting Goldman in the decidedly unfamiliar role of acting opposite puppets.

"I'm just a guy on TV that makes cakes," he says. "And so having a script and having lines and having to do acting was definitely not in my comfort zone. But working with The Jim Henson Company and everybody ... (they're) not only pros in their craft at operating puppets and making them come to life but also pros at just improv comedy. And for somebody like me who has never done anything like this, having people that are amazing at what they do around you, they just make you good."

So the six episodes, Goldman says, work on two levels. For kids, it's a zany adventure with Henson characters. But for adults seeking food knowledge, there are lessons on fundamental techniques and, of course, recipes, many of which are Goldman's.

"We also are taking people through the science behind what it is that we're doing, like why certain things happen," he explains. "Why do you put eggs in cake batter? What's the point? Can you make it without eggs? And then we show people what happens when you make it without eggs and we explain what the egg is and what it does in the cake batter recipe and why protein is important and why the fat is important. You know, we sort of illustrate all these things."

For someone who has been through culinary school, read myriad textbooks and understands how the chemistry and physics behind cooking and baking can put people off, presenting that information in an accessible way was key.

"If you have a bunch of puppets and you turn whatever concept into a story," he says, "people are just going to be like, "This is so cool! This is fascinating! I had no idea chocolate was this complex."
