Even a cartoon poodle has to have friends, as Lisa Kudrow realizes. With one of television's most enduringly popular sitcoms to her credit – "Friends," of course – along with "The Comeback" and "Web Therapy," the actress-producer tries something different in returning to weekly humor. She speaks for the central character in the animated Fox series "HouseBroken," premiering Monday, May 31.

Kudrow's Honey leads group therapy sessions for neighborhood pets and strays, most of whom reflect traits also likely to be recognized in humans. While counseling such peers as a commitment-phobic tortoise (voiced by Will Forte) and an OCD-afflicted terrier ("Veep" Emmy winner Tony Hale), Honey has her own troubles via her arranged marriage to a St. Bernard (Nat Faxon). Sharon Horgan ("Catastrophe") and Clea DuVall, who voice other characters, are among the show's executive producers.

"I just saw the cast and said, 'Yeah! I want to be in that group,' " the pleasant, lively Kudrow explains. "It was just such a funny idea, pets getting together to have therapy. Honey isn't qualified to be a therapist, but her human is one." Noting her "Web Therapy" past, Kudrow muses, "I'm going to be typecast."

As for "HouseBroken" animals mirroring real-world situations, Kudrow cites one whose "humans are separating, so he's going back and forth between them, and he's anxious." Kudrow was a bit anxious herself in determining how Honey should sound, and she allows she made what she terms "the wrong choice" initially.

"I had to go back and re-record," she says, "because I thought, 'Oh, that would be really funny.' And then, it wasn't. She sounded a little too superior; maybe I was bumping into what I did in 'Web Therapy.' The thought was that she's a poodle and thinks she's a little better than everybody else, but it didn't work at all. I had to adjust."

Kudrow agrees "HouseBroken" is an ideal job in the time of the coronavirus pandemic. "We got to do table reads over Zoom," she reports, though she laments that in mostly recording by herself, "You don't get to chat or exchange moments while getting coffee. Nat Faxon and I got to record together ... and good luck to whoever is putting that together, because I just laughed every time he spoke! Clea also came to some sessions and read with me."

Reunited recently with her "Friends" colleagues to record a muchanticipated HBO Max special, Kudrow has been a guest voice on such other animated series as "The Simpsons" and "King of the Hill." She notes that with the timing of "HouseBroken" specifically, "it was helpful to know, 'Oh. I have something I have to do.' It was really nice to be busy with something."

In Focus

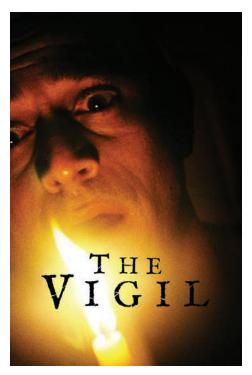

"Dave" (FXX — season premiere, June 16)

Dave Burd returns for Season 2 of this comedy that casts him in the title role of a neurotic man in his late 20s who's trying to overcome his insecurities to realize his lifelong dream of becoming one of the best rappers of all time. This new season finds Dave on the cusp of cutting his debut album, but he soon discovers fame comes at a cost. Taylor Misiak, Andrew Santino and GaTa co-star.

What's Available NOW On

"Movie: The Vigil"

A despondent young man (Dave Davis, "True Detective") holding overnight watch over the body of a member of his Orthodox Jewish community in a dilapidated Brooklyn home comes face-to-face with a malevolent entity in this 2019 horror tale from first-time feature filmmaker Keith Thomas. Fred Melamed, Menashe Lustig and Lynn Cohen also star.

"Movie: Plan B"

Following a regrettable first sexual encounter, a straight-laced high schooler (Kuhoo Verma, "Insomnia") and her slacker best friend (Victoria Moroles, "Teen Wolf) have 24 hours to find a Plan B or "morning after" pill to resolve a potential issue in this comedy movie from director Natalie Morales ("Language Lessons"). Mason Cook, Michael Provost and Bobby Tisdale also star. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Supernova"

With time at a premium due to one's dementia diagnosis, a couple (Stanley Tucci, Colin Firth) hit the road in an old RV to visit family, friends and places from their past in this 2020 British drama from director Harry Macqueen ("Hinterland"). Pippa Haywood, Peter MacQueen and Nina Marlin also star.

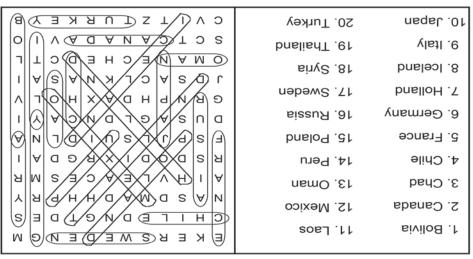

"Movie: The Donut King"

Alice Gu made her directorial debut with the 2020 documentary that explores the life of "Donut King" Ted Ngoy, a Cambodian refugee who came to California in the 1970s and started a chain of donut shops in that state before his world collapsed under the weight of a devastating gambling addiction.

"Dirty John"

Season 2 of the true-crime anthology series is titled "The Betty Broderick Story" and follows the familiar story of Broderick (played here by Amanda Peet), the San Diego woman who shot and killed her ex-husband and his second wife in their sleep. Christian Slater, Rachel Keller, Missi Pyle and Emily Bergl also star in the eight episodes.

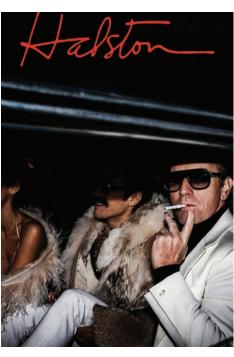

"Movie: Scarface"

Al Pacino gives an appropriately overthe-top performance in director Brian De Palma's violent 1983 remake of the mobster classic. As gangland wannabe Tony Montana, the actor drips machismo from every pore, even when it's ill-advised. Michelle Pfeiffer plays the walking mannequin who becomes the underworld novice's mistress. Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio, Steven Bauer and Robert Loggia co-star.

"Nail Bomber: Manhunt"

From across the pond comes this true crime documentary that tells the story of the 1999 London bombings that targeted the Black, Bangladeshi and gay communities and the manhunt for the far right-wing perpetrators of the attacks that left three people dead and 140 injured, three with loss of limbs. (ORIGINAL)

"Halston"

Ewan McGregor ("Fargo," "Moulin Rouge!") has the title role in this Ryan Murphy-produced limited drama series about the legendary fashion designer who rose to fame and fortune in 1970s and '80s New York before a hostile takeover would force him into a battle for his most precious asset — the name Halston itself. Bill Pullman and Rebecca Dayan also star. (ORIGINAL)

Martinez bounces back big for Red Sox

For a lot of people, 2020 was a year to forget. J.D. Martinez would consider himself among them - at least as far as onfield performance goes.

Indeed, the Boston Red Sox's designated hitter suffered a down year in the pandemic-shortened 60-game '20 season, posting totals of a .213 batting average with seven home runs, 27 RBIs, a .291 on-base percentage and a .680 OPS over 54 games. That's a far cry from his 2019 numbers of .304, 36, 105, .383 and .939 - as well as what he's done so far this year.

As of mid-May, the 33-year-old Miami native led or was among the major league leaders in many important offensive categories, including average (.333), homers (10), RBIs (31), on- base percentage (.425), total bases (72) and OPS (1.075).

And the reason for his success? He's driving the ball again - and he used 2020 as motivation for his comeback year.

Listen to Martinez talk and you'll hear the words of an old-school student of the game who takes pride in hitting the ball where it's pitched and driving it to all fields - not someone consumed by launch angle and swinging for distance. He considers himself a hitter first and bat control and discipline are his guiding principles. "Slugger" to him is a dirty word. Yet, the homers keep coming.

Most importantly, he's again the linchpin of a Boston offense that scores runs in bunches and is a major reason why the team sits atop the AL East standings through the season's first six weeks.

Martinez and the Sox can be seen in action on ESPN Monday, May 31, when they open a four-game road series against the Houston Astros.

Culinary legends join the judging panel in Season 11 of 'MasterChef'

The aprons are fewer and the challenges are greater as Fox's "MasterChef" returns for Season 11 with a few culinary heavyweights in Premiering Wednesday, June 2, the new season titled simply "Legends" returns Gordon Ramsay, Aaron Sanchez and Joe Bastianich to the judging panel to evaluate the creations of home cooks vying for the coveted apron, joined by rotating guest judges including Emeril Lagasse, Paula Deen, Curtis Stone, Roy Choi, Nancy Silverton and Morimoto.

For the first time, only 15 aprons will be awarded to chefs that make it through the auditions and also the challenges will be tougher, including a head-to-head battle with Ramsay himself. So the pressure will be ramped up on not only the contestants, but also the judges, who have to think a little harder about who gets an apron this season.

"Usually, we start with 20-25 aprons that we dole out," Sanchez explains. "You compound that with restricting it to 15 aprons ... yes, I'm definitely more judicious.

"And also this is Season 11, so every year the challenges get a little bit more fierce (and) we're a lot more specific as far as their skill sets and their preparedness as far as tackling the (bright) lights and what this industry has to hold. ... So definitely this year was one of those years that we had to be very homed in with their progression throughout the competition. But also, were we making the right decisions by giving those aprons? Because we wanted them to be prepared for this very intense ride."

And the toll that intensity took on the chefs was clearly visible, says Sanchez. Between the TV cameras, lights, audience, competition and judging, it can be a very intimidating experience. But the judges are also mentors who try to talk the contestants through the competition and the accompanying hubbub. Sanchez commends his longtime friend Lagasse, who appears in the opener, for being particularly adept in this area.

"He brings an unbelievable wealth of knowledge as far as the whole television aspect," he says, "and being able to be part of competitions throughout his career. So I thought he gave a lot of insight as far as calming down the contestants, letting them know that it's about the food, don't worry about the cameras, just do your thing and make sure that your culinary voice comes out. ..."

"I thought, for the most part, all of the contestants rose to the challenge," Sanchez continues, "and they were able to embrace the idea of a mentor, another chef as part of the whole dynamic. I mean, I'm nervous when I'm there because I'm nervous for them. I want them all to succeed. I don't want anybody to

WICKED TUNA

"Wicked Tuna: Season 10"

The new season of the National Geographic series finds the boat captains of Gloucester, Mass., scrapping to get by.

The pandemic has forced the shuttering of restaurants and thus has driven down demand and prices for bluefin tuna. But the difficult times have forged a spirit of cooperation among this notoriously competitive group as they share fishing locations and tactics, among other things.

(Available now)

"Wild Hearts Can't Be Broken" (Available now)

Steve Miner ("Friday the 13th Part 2," "House") stepped away from slasher movies to direct this delightful 1991 family drama that stars Gabrielle Anwar ("Scent of a Woman," "Burn Notice") as a Depression-era orphan who pursues her dream of joining a high-diving horse act and plunge 40 feet into a tank of water. Michael Schoeffling and Cliff Robertson also star.

"Wander Over Yonder: Seasons 1-3" (Available now)

Jack McBrayer ("30 Rock") and "SpongeBob SquarePants" cohorts Tom Kenny and Bill Fagerbakke are among the voice cast in this 2013-16 animated series that follows the adventures of the ever-optimistic Wander (McBrayer), whose aspirations to do good as he rides across the galaxy often put him in conflict with the dastardly Lord Hater (voice of Keith Ferguson).

"Special Agent Oso: Seasons 1-2" (Available now)

Ford Riley ("The Lion Guard") was the creative force behind this animated 2009-12 Disney Channel series about the titular special agent-in-training who always needs the help of others to complete his assigned tasks after failing on the first attempt. Sean Astin ("Rudy") provides the voice of Oso, alongside Meghan Strange, Gary Anthony Williams and Phill Lewis.
