

Apple's 'Schmigadoon!' a parody and a love letter to Golden Age movie musicals

You don't have to be an aficionado of mid-20th century movie musicals to appreciate the humor of "Schmigadoon!" But it certainly doesn't hurt.

Premiering Friday, July 16, on Apple TV+, the six-episode spoof offers up sly nods to classics such as "Oklahoma!" "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," "The Sound of Music" and yes, "Brigadoon" as it tells the story of Josh and Melissa (Keegan-Michael Key, "Key and Peele," and Cecily Strong, "Saturday Night Live"), a bickering couple on a relationship retreat who wander across a wilderness footbridge into a land where everyone is happy and a production number is only a line or two away.

And it is there in Schmigadoon where they encounter such standard issue characters as the mayor (Alan Cumming, "The Good Wife"), the schoolmarm (Ariana DeBose, "Hamilton"), the bad boy (Aaron Tveit, "Graceland"), the flirt (Dove Cameron, "Live and Maddie: Cali Style"), the doctor (Jaime Camil, "Jane the Virgin"), the leprechaun (Martin Short), and the reverend (Fred Armisen, "Portlandia") and his wife, the town prude (Broadway's Kristin Chenoweth). And a whole lot of singing and dancing, sometimes to the dismay of the two newcomers, who find they can't escape this Technicolor hell until they find true love.

The series was created as a love letter to Golden Age musicals by Ken Daurio ("Despicable Me") and Cinco Paul ("The Lorax"), who aimed it at both musical and nonmusical fans.

"Everybody understands, basically, what a musical is," Paul explains, "and so I think it has fun with all those tropes. And then Keegan's character Josh hates musicals and wants nothing to do with them and doesn't know anything about them. So he's kind of the way in for all those people that ... maybe haven't watched 'Oklahoma!' recently."

But there is real meat here for musical fans as well, as the production numbers are elaborate and the performers for the most part have respectable to serious musical chops, especially Chenoweth, Cumming, Tveit and DeBose, who all have extensive backgrounds in stage musicals and in some cases, Tony Awards. And those that don't, such as Strong, a lifelong fan of the genre, acquit themselves quite nicely.

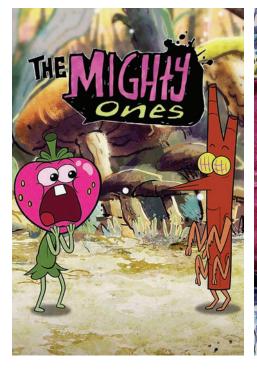

"I think while we're just saying love letter ... it was really important that we have legit Broadway stars in this ...," says the actress, who also has a producer credit here. "And when we filmed it the theaters (in New York) were shuttered, and it's a sad time to see Broadway that way, and we got to make musical theater during this time. And it was really wonderful and that's also our love letter to Broadway, I think."

"Money Hungry" (Food Network — series premiere, July 25) The clock is ticking as competitors must "taste wisely" in order to showcase their impres-sive palates in a series of increasingly complex challenges that push their scorece and guilt challenges that push their senses and culi-nary knowledge to the limit. At the end of the five-episode series run, only those that survive through the final tasting are awarded $50,000. Kal Penn is the host.

DISCOVER FLORIDA'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

The original first-order Fresnel lens in the St. Augustine Lighthouse was manufactured in Paris, France. In 1986, a vandal shot the lens at the top of the tower, damaging 19 of its 370 prisms. Then President of the Junior Service League of St. Augustine, Virginia Whetstone, spearhcaded a first-of-its-kind restoration project with Dan Spinella of Disney Corporation. Taking advantage of breakthroughs in laser technology, Dan measured the prisms and created the means to fabricate a new bullseye panel and 18 other prisms.

Two Coast Guardsmen, Joseph Cocking, and Nicholas Johnston, who still service the Fresnel lens today, took out the damaged parts, replaced them, and aligned the beam correctly. Initially thought of as an impossible task for a fledgling non-profit, a team effort ensured the Fresnel lens restoration, which served as a pilot project that led to other original lens restorations across the United States.

Posey once again a giant among Giants in San Francisco

He's 34 and not playing as much as in his prime but Buster Posey is increasingly resembling the All-Star the San Francisco Giants faithful have come to know and love.

Indeed, the 2012 NL MVP and 2010 Rookie of the Year is in the midst of a Renaissance year and has been a major cog in the Giants' ascent to the top of the NL West standings, ahead of their more vaunted rivals in Los Angeles and San Diego.

As of mid-June, the Georgia native was batting .337 with 12 home runs (his first double-digit homer total since 2017), 26 RBIs, a .411 on-base percentage and an OPS of .996. He's also hitting in the clutch, bashing game-turning homers in recent games against the Diamondbacks, Nationals and the hated Dodgers. And he's still a master defensively and at calling pitches, the Giants' team ERA of 3.2 being a testament to that.

Of course, he's played in only 47 of the Giants' 68 games so far in 2021, which is not only a concession to his age but also an effort to keep him fresh for what is shaping up to be a long postseason run in the Bay Area. If he keeps producing at this rate, he'll likely wind up in the MVP conversation once again.

Posey and the Giants can be seen in action Saturday, July 17, when they square off against the St. Louis Cardinals in a regional contest airing on Fox. And depending on balloting, he may also be on the field at Denver's Coors Field as a member of the National League squad in the 2021 MLB All-Star Game, also airing on Fox on Tuesday, July 13.

Exploring new culinary frontiers virtually on 'The Globe'

Imagine having to create a dish from another country with no recipe, no knowledge of its ingredients and using unfamiliar equipment.

That's the challenge faced by contestants on "The Globe." Premiering Saturday, July 17, on discovery+, each episode brings four talented chefs to the greatest culinary destinations around the world via immersive 270-degree LED screen backdrops and tasks them with creating a signature dish from that country using only ingredients indigenous to that area.

The catch is the contestants, all of whom are executive-level chefs, have only a pantry of the ingredients and a few verbal clues from guest judges to go on. Nothing written down, no photo of the dish. Nada. Their training, experience and imagination will fill in the blanks – hopefully – and draw the favor of the judging panel, which includes resident judge Daniela Soto-Innes.

Robert Irvine ("Restaurant: Impossible"), the show's host, chuckles when he discusses this competition's degree of difficulty.

"They are working off taking those foods and using the techniques that they know in their own world to try and create something that is going to inspire or impress a judge," Irvine explains. "... (There is only) the picture on the screen that's 270 degrees, some advice from the judges of what they're looking for and then it's go time. ... The picture is only the town or the area. There's no picture of foods. It's just, 'Hey listen, you're flying into Addis Ababa. Here's the pantry that you've never seen before. Create a dish from it in 30 minutes, 45 minutes depending on the challenge. And this is what we're looking for – taste, flavor, texture.' You know, nothing more than that."

In addition to the aforementioned Ethiopian capital, "The Globe" virtually brings contestants and viewers to such culinary epicenters as Beijing, Mumbai, Paris, Tel Aviv; Florence, Italy; and Lima, Peru. The winner of each episode gets a trip to one of the three destinations in their episode and the chance to win a $25,000 grand prize in the finale.

But first, they have to run this unique competition show's unusual gauntlet, the pressure from which Irvine says can get very intense.

"I like the challenge," he says, "and that's what chefs do on a daily basis and that's what I love about this show. It's taking you as a viewer probably to new places but introducing you to new ingredients – including me, by the way. So it's a great journey for me, also."

"The Sandlot 2" (Available now) This 2005 sequel to the beloved 1993 family comedy (which also streams this month) picks up 10 years after the original, as new kids in the neighborhood fight for control of the local baseball field and puzzle over how to retrieve a model rocket from the yard of a cranky old man. Max Lloyd-Jones, Teryl Rothery and James Earl Jones star.

"We Bought a Zoo" (July 16) Cameron Crowe ("Almost Famous") directed this affecting, true 2011 tale of a writer (Matt Damon) who decides to move his children to ... check the title again. They actually buy a house, but it has an animal park attached. Scarlett Johansson plays the creatures' caretaker, and her work and Damon's do much to elevate this above the typical "feel-good" movie that might be expected.
