Everyone in the pool: Swimming dominates first week of 2020 Tokyo Olympics

As the 2020 Tokyo Olympics moves into its first full week of competition, swimming comes into sharp focus with a number of American athletes figuring to vie for podium space.

Probably the name most familiar to fans is Katie Ledecky. The 24-year-old Washington, D.C.-area native has a resume like few others, holding five Olympic gold medals, 15 World Championship golds, records for the 23 fastest times in the 800m freestyle (her signature event) and the 10 fastest times in the 1,500m freestyle. She's also the defending Olympic champion in the 200m and 400m freestyle.

In short, she's America's best hope for multiple hardware in Tokyo and Rowdy Gaines, a three-time Olympic gold medal swimmer who will cover the sport when it airs all week beginning Sunday, July 25, on NBC and other outlets, expects her to add to her medal collection here, though not without some stiff competition, namely in Ariarne Titmus of Australia.

"I think she's the only one that can beat Katie," Gaines says. "I really think that in the 200m, 400m and 800m, she's certainly met somebody that can go stroke for stroke with her. But I don't think we've seen the best of Katie. ... Now she's still four seconds or five seconds behind Titmus in the 400m so she's got to find a lot, but I really do believe that she can run the table from the 200m to the 1,500m if she's on like I know she can be."

On the men's side, Team USA is looking for its stud with Michael Phelps and Ryan Lochte retired from Olympic competition. Enter Caeleb Dressel, who won golds in two relay events at Rio de Janeiro in 2016 and figures to compete in as many as seven in Tokyo.

"I really believe that for the men's side, Team USA will go so far as Caeleb Dressel goes," Gaines says. "Because if he's successful, I think it will be a domino effect for the rest of those men because these are not very experienced men. ... And Caeleb is one that has certainly had the experience, knows what it's been like, knows how to compete at the highest level with the World Championships that followed. But boy, he's got a lot of pressure on his back just like Michael did all those years."

As for up-and-comers to watch, Gaines has his eye several swimmers, among them Annie Lazor, Kieran Smith, Bobby Finke and Lydia Jacoby, a 17-year-old who is the first Olympic swimmer from Alaska.

"She represents a first, for sure, which is really cool," Gaines says. "I've been to Alaska a couple of times for swim clinics, believe it or not, and they have some good swimming there. It's just that it's tough because during the outdoor season, it's hard to find an outdoor 50-meter pool that a lot of states have and they have to go indoors and there are only so many 50-meter indoor pools in Alaska. So it's really great, I think she'll help the sport a lot in that

"Nine Perfect Strangers: Season 1" (Hulu—series premiere, Aug. 18)
Author Liane Moriarty's bestseller served as the basis for this original drama series that is set at a boutique health-and-wellness resort that promises healing and transformation to its stressed-out city dweller clientele. During the 10-day retreat, the resort's director makes it her personal mission to reinvigorate the tired minds and bodies of the visitors, but they might be in for more than they bargained for. Nicole Kidman, Melissa McCarthy, Michael Shannon, Luke Evans and Bobby Cannavale head the talented cast.

What's Available NOW On

"Movie: Enforcement"

From Denmark comes this 2020 urban thriller about two cops who must find their way out of a Copenhagen ghetto when a well-publicized case of police brutality kicks off an eruption of rage and violence. Jacob Lohmann, Simon Sears and Tarek Zayat head the cast for directors Anders Olholm and Frederik Hviid.

"Movie: 47 Meters Down"

From the United Kingdom comes this 2017 adventure drama about two sisters trapped in a shark cage on the ocean floor with a dwindling oxygen supply, who must find a way to get to the surface as sharks circle. Mandy Moore, Claire Holt and Chris Johnson head the cast for director Johannes Roberts ("Storage 24").

"Movie: Papillon"

Director Michael Noer's 2017 remake of the original 1973 drama casts Charlie Hunnam ("Sons of Anarchy") in the title role of the French safecracker who is framed for murder and incarcerated on the infamous Devil's Island, where he forges an unlikely alliance with a counterfeiter to engineer his own escape. Rami Malek, Roland Moller and Nina Senicar are also in the cast.

"Movie: Leave No Trace"

From writer/director Debra Granik ("Down to the Bone," "Winter's Bone") comes this 2018 adventure yarn about a father and his teenage daughter, who are living a peaceful existence in a vast Portland, Ore., park until a small mistake tips off authorities and changes everything. Ben Foster, Thomasin McKenzie and Jeff Kober head the cast.

"Archer" (FXX — season premiere, Aug. 25)

For many "Archer" fans, the big question is whether beloved actress Jessica Walter — who died in March at age 80 — is part of Season 12. Happily, since Walter adored her hilarious animated role as self-absorbed Malory Archer, she reportedly worked on these new episodes right up until the end, so she definitely will be present to some degree. In the world of the show, Archer (voice of H. Jon Benjamin) and his colleagues face competition from International Intelligence Agency, a faceless new spy conglomerate.

"He's All That" (Netflix — movie premiere, Aug. 27)
This reimagining of the 1999 teen cult hit "She's All That" turns the tables on the genders and stars newcomer Addison Rae as an influencer who accords the challenger encer who accepts the challenge to transform her school's biggest loser (Tanner Buchanan, "Cobra Kai") into the prom king. Rachael Leigh Cook, who played the transformed party in the original, is the influencer's mother here, in a cast that also includes Madison Pettis and Kourtney Kardashian.

Jacoby hopes to do Alaska proud at 2020 Tokyo Olympics

As Olympic swimmers from Alaska go, Lydia Jacoby is in a class by herself.

Indeed, the 17-year-old native of Seward is the first swimmer from the 49th State to represent the United States in the Summer Games and only the second overall after Corey Cogdell-Unrein, a trapshooter who won the bronze in 2008. And if her performances in the Olympic trials last month are any indication, she could also be in line for hardware in Tokyo.

At the meet in Omaha, Neb., on June 15, Jacoby finished second in the 100m breaststroke to Lilly King, the world's top swimmer in that category, while also ringing up the year's second fastest time in that event. It was enough to clinch her trip to Japan as one of 11 teenagers on the 50-member U.S. squad.

Her breakthrough comes after a year of uncertainty. She qualified for the Olympic trials in 2020, only to have the Games be pushed back to 2021 due to the pandemic. With the 50m pool in Seward closed, the high-school junior kept active by lifting weights, running in ice cleats and skiing. When that pool remained closed after others in the state had reopened, she relocated temporarily to Anchorage, two hours away, to use the facilities there.

That extra year of training and physical maturation appears to have paid off in history-making fashion for Jacoby and now Alaskans and the world will be watching to see if it will ultimately result in a place on the Jacoby vies in the 100m breaststroke event Sunday and Monday, July 25 and 26, on NBC and other outlets.

'The Wine Show' explores Portugal in Season 3

James Purefoy wants you to have some respect - at least it comes to wine.

Indeed, the British actor and co-host of "The Wine Show," which returns for its third season Thursday, July 29, on SundanceTV, Acorn TV and AMC+, feels that the drinking public doesn't pay enough attention to the craftsmanship behind wine and that too often it winds up down the hatch without much consideration.

"There's a tendency, I think, people when they get a glass of wine, they sip it, they don't really concentrate on that first moment," he explains. "I think it's good to pay a little bit of respect to the wine in the glass. Think about it, smell it, think about it, I mean – and then chug it after that. But at least give the wine growers some element of respect that it is actually touching your mouth somewhere rather than just the back of your throat and into your stomach."

The new season brings Purefoy to Portugal, where he and co-host Matthew Goode travel the country and discover some of its best wines while sommelier Charlotte Wilde goes to the Azores to learn who really invented sparkling wine and champagne. Meanwhile, co-hosts Matthew Rhys and Joe Fattorini do lunch at different restaurants around New York City and pair wines with the different international cuisines. And the series introduces a new co-host in Dominic West ("The Affair"), a wine enthusiast who brings his considerable knowledge to bear at the locations and the tastings.

"He knows his wine, Dominic, no doubt about that," Purefoy says, "and he's very knowledgeable and he understands it and he's got a good poetic nature so he can talk well about wines. And no, he's very good. No, I think I am the least experienced in terms of wine of any of us. ... Matthew Goode and Dominic - they know their wines very well out of the actors."

But while Purefoy may call himself a relative newbie out of the show's cast, he did have a powerful reaction to a wine he tried in the Alentejo region of Southern Portugal.

"There was one wine that we had that made me cry it was so good ...," he says. "Somebody brought us a bottle of a Portuguese wine called Ceis. And I don't know whether it was the heat, the tiredness, the exhaustion – I was just overcome when I drank this wine. Or it could just have been an exceptionally good glass of wine.

"So when I tasted it, my eyes started watering," he continues with a laugh, "and of course, Matthew Goode just sort of said, 'Are you actually crying? That wine has made you cry?' But it seemed to be so perfect for that moment ... and it just seemed life was pretty damn good at that exact moment."
