Back to Beijing: Chinese capital hosts 2022 Winter Games

Anyone who tuned into the Opening Ceremony of the 2008 Summer Olympics in Beijing bore witness to an event they wouldn't soon forget.

The four-hour, nine-minute display of special effects, lights and ingenuity set a new standard for an Opening Ceremony and drew raves from international media for being spectacular and spellbinding, a show that no host city has since matched in imagination and magnitude.

Almost 14 years later, the Chinese capital is once again in the spotlight as the host of the 2022 Winter Olympics, which get underway Wednesday, Feb. 2, two days before the official Opening Ceremony on Friday, Feb. 4. NBC, Peacock, USA Network, CNBC, NBCOlympics.com and NBC Sports app will again team up to provide 3,000-plus hours of coverage over 17 days of a record 109 medal events in 15 sports, among them figure skating, alpine skiing, snowboarding, ice hockey, speed skating, freestyle skiing, biathlon and luge.

International athletes expected to vie for hardware at these Games include Mikael Kingsbury (freestyle skiing, Canada), Hanyu Yuzuru (figure skating, Japan), Mikaela Shiffrin (alpine skiing, U.S.), Francesco Friedrich (bobsled, Germany), Suzanne Schulting (short track speed skating, Netherlands), Charlotte Kalla (crosscountry skiing, Sweden), Nathan Chen (figure skating, U.S.), Eileen Gu (freestyle skiing, China), Sara Takanashi (ski jumping, Japan), Tina Hermann (skeleton, Germany) and Ester Ledecka (snowboarding, alpine skiing, Czech Republic).

Of course, the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic will also play into the storylines as conditions continue to change. For their part, the International Olympic Committee and Olympic organizers have made clear that these Games will go on and the athletes will be subject to strict protocols, including requiring vaccinations, keeping them isolated inside the Olympic "bubble" and not allowing them out among the citizenry.

One interesting thing to watch is the performance of athletes from the host country at these Games. China is not known for winter sports and in the lead up to these Olympics have hired international coaches to coach its athletes in hopes of inspiring more Chinese to try skiing, snowboarding, figure skating and other winter sports and thus make the country a more significant presence on the international stage.

As for opening week sports to watch, curling kicks things off on Wednesday, Feb. 2, with the U.S. facing Australia. Women's hockey then faces off on Thursday, Feb. 3, with Team USA opening its defense of its 2018 gold medal with a preliminary contest against Finland.

Figure skating then gets going Friday, Feb. 4, with men's short program, ice dance rhythm dance and pairs short program prior to the Opening Ceremony. And on Saturday, Feb. 5, freestyle skiing makes its first appearance with the final in men's moguls, in which Canada's Kingsbury will attempt to defend his gold medal from 2018 in Pyeongchang, South Korea.

DISCOVER FLORIDA'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

In 1875, Major William A. Harn became Head Keeper of the St. Augustine Lighthouse. Keeper Harn and his wife Kate, along with their daughters, became the first residents of the Keepers' House. Life at a light station was busy, and everyone would help tend to the light and grounds. One aspect of this was to greet and entertain visitors. The Harn children loved hearing stories from the outside world as Kate served lemonade on the porch of the Keepers' House.

The Harn family lived and worked at the light station from 1876 until 1889. After William's passing, Kate served as the Second Assistant before moving the family into town and later returning home to Maine. The photograph above was taken at the Harn family home in Maine during the 1920s. Among those pictured are Kate and five of her six daughters.

"Archive 81"

Loosely inspired by the popular podcast of the same name, this thriller series follows Dan (Mamoudou Athie), an archivist who becomes personally involved while restoring the tapes of a documentary filmmaker who met a terrifying end years earlier while investigating a dangerous cult. Curling a lifelong pursuit for U.S. Olympian Persinger

The 2022 Winter Olympics in Beijing get underway Wednesday, Feb. 2, with curling, a sport one might say got Vicky Persinger's life underway.

Indeed, the two-time U.S. women's national champion has been curling since the age of 5, in a family that also includes fellow curlers in sister Tina and cousins Chad and Greg, the latter a two-time U.S. men's champ. All four, in fact, competed in the 2015 Mixed Curling Championship and finished fourth.

These Olympics may be the first for Persinger but the 29-year-old native of Fairbanks, Alaska, is no stranger to the curling wars. She's competed in eight Junior Championships, winning gold in her last appearance in 2013.

Since then, she's taken home hardware in every Women's National Championship she has competed in, seven in a row as of 2021, and she's won gold medals in 2017, 2018 and 2021.

She and Chris Plys punched their ticket to Beijing with victories in the U.S. Olympic Mixed Trials in November in Chaska, Minn., and another qualifying event in December at Leeuwarden, Netherlands, where they ran the table with seven wins in a row.

In China, she and mixed partner Plys come in on a tear and figure to be a podium threat. She'll also be on the U.S. women's team.

Viewers can catch Persinger when she and Plys open things up with a round-robin match against Australia on Wednesday. Mixed doubles culminates on Feb. 8, with the gold medal game. Men's and women's curling runs through Feb. 19.

All competition in the 2022 Winter Olympics airs on NBC, Peacock, USA Network, CNBC, NBCOlympics.com and NBC Sports app.

'Mary Makes It Easy' to turn out great meals in new Food Network series

There is a certain intimidation factor that comes with cooking, posits Mary Berg, which she hopes to remove from the equation with her new series on Food Network.

In "Mary Makes It Easy," premiering Saturday, Feb. 5, the Toronto-based chef and cookbook author shares easy and delicious recipes that she guarantees will impress family and friends and offers up tips and tricks designed to take the stress and fear out of meal prep.

"I really don't think there's anything you should kind of steer clear from," Berg, the Season 3 winner of "MasterChef Canada," explains. "I think if you're a little worried, you just have to shake it off and go in with an open mind of 'I'm going to learn something today,' and it might be how to not wreck something. Or it might be how to make the absolute most perfect thing that you didn't even know that you can make. It's all opportunity in the up at using using electric appliances like kitchen."

In the 13 half-hour episodes, Berg endeavors to break down cooking techniques and meal planning into easily attainable steps as she shows what to do with a fridge full of leftovers or how to add pizzazz to chicken, the ubiquitous dinner staple that is versatile though at-times boring.

And, Berg says, deceptively easy to

"(The) chicken is dry, you're worried about undercooking it and then you overcook it," she says. "You're worried about that kind of lackluster, kind of pale skin. You want a good goldenbrown crust. It's boring. There are so many things about chicken that people complain about that none of those things are true or have to be true."

So in Saturday's premiere, Berg demonstrates easy recipes for a classic roast chicken with gravy, chicken parmesan, chicken noodle soup and hoisin chicken with green onion pancakes.

As for her favorite techniques and tricks, Berg mentions searing, cooking with bacon fat and using generous amounts of salt when boiling pasta as things any home cook can pick up. And old schoolers shouldn't turn their noses a food processor or hand mixer if they have them.

"Anything that can help you get food on the table quicker," she says. "If you don't want to do something by hand, I think take it. I love those things. I love shortcuts and I love those things that help you feel as successful as possible when you put dinner on the table."
