The quest for hardware continues at the 2022 Winter Olympics in Beijing

There are a number of stories to watch, with several athletes seeking multiple hardware, as the 2022 Winter Olympics goes into its second full week of action in Beijing. All events air on NBC, Peacock, USA Network, CNBC, NBCOlympics.com and NBC Sports app.

One involves women's bobsledding on Monday, Feb. 14, as Elana Meyers Taylor of the United States will team with Kaillie Humphries, who previously competed for Canada, in the monobob, which makes its debut at these games. Meyers Taylor owns three Olympic medals in the two-woman bobsled but has never won gold, while Humphries topped the monobob podium at the 2021 IBSF World Championships. Meyers Taylor and Humphries are also expected to be in the mix for hardware in the twowoman bobsled, which has its gold medal run on Saturday, Feb. 19.

Also on Monday in women's snowboarding, two-time defending Olympic gold medalist Jamie Anderson of the U.S. will duke it out with two international athletes – 2021 World Champion Eileen Gu of China and Estonia's Kelly Sildaru, the four-time X Games champ – in the slopestyle final. The next night, Anderson will go for gold in the big air event while on Friday, Feb. 18, Sildaru and Gu will vie for podium space with defending Olympic gold medalist Cassie Sharpe of Canada in the halfpipe.

In men's snowboarding on Saturday, American David Wise will face a stalwart field including fellow countryman Alex Ferreira, Canada's Brendan Mackay and Nico Porteous of New Zealand in the halfpipe, an event in which he's won gold in the past two Olympics.

The eyes of the world will no doubt turn to women's hockey on Thursday, Feb. 17, with the gold medal game. Barring any major upsets, the United States and Canada should once again be the opponents here. These countries have met in the last three Olympic finals (with Canada winning twice) and have dominated World Championship play since its inception in 1990.

And who can forget Mikaela Shiffrin? Depending on how she did in her previous events, she could be going for her fourth gold medal of these games in the women's downhill on Tuesday. But she'll face stiff competition from fellow countrywoman Breezy Johnson, the two-time world champion. Shiffrin will then enter her fifth and final race of the Olympics on Thursday with the alpine combined, in which she won silver in 2018.

In women's short track speed skating on Wednesday, Feb. 16, Canada's Kim Boutin will defend her 2018 Olympic gold medal from a field including American Kristen Santos in the 1,500m final. And in women's figure skating on Thursday, look for Russian teenagers Kamila Valiyeva and Alexandra Trusova to vie for hardware with Alysa Liu of the U.S. in the conclusion of the short program.

"Adam Eats the 80s" (History — series premiere, Feb. 27)

Host Adam Richman flashes back to his favorite decade, which introduced the world to Smurf Berry Crunch, Dr. Pepper gum and many more bodacious foods. He will hit the road to explore factories still making iconic items, seek out quirky collectors with rarities that are now worth a fortune and literally eat and drink his way through 10 years of nostalgia.

"Movie: Nightmare Alley"

From Oscar-winning director Guillermo del Toro ("The Shape of Water") comes this 2021 crime drama that stars Bradley Cooper as Stanton Carlisle, a con man who hatches a plan to bilk a tycoon with the help of a mysterious psychiatrist, who may turn out to be his most formidable opponent yet. Rooney Mara, Cate Blanchett, Ron Perlman and Toni Collette are also in the talented cast.

"Movie: The Space Between"

Rachel Winter directed this offbeat 2021 comedy set in 1990s-era Los Angeles. Kelsey Grammer stars as Micky Adams, a once-successful rock musician whose increasingly eccentric output leads his record company to decide he's a fiscal liability. Charlie Porter (Jackson White), an ambitious young mailroom employee, brashly accepts the task of traveling to Micky's home and forcing him out of his contract. An improbable friendship soon forms.

"Movie: The Shape of Water"

Guillermo del Toro won an Academy Award and a Golden Globe for his direction of this dark, lyrical 2017 fantasy, which also took the Oscar as the year's best picture. Sally Hawkins also got an Oscar nod for playing a mute custodian at a government facility who falls in love with an amphibious humanoid creature (Doug Jones) who has been brought in for study.

"Movie: The King's Man"

The origin story of the titular intelligence agency is told in this 2021 actioner from co-writer, co-producer and director Matthew Vaughn ("Kingsman: The Golden Circle"), which follows one man's race against time to stop the worst tyrants and criminals from wiping out millions of people. Ralph Fiennes, Gemma Arterton, Rhys Ifans and Djimon Hounsou head the cast.

DISCOVER FLORIDA'S FIRST LIGHTHOUSE

In 1875, Major William A. Harn became Head Keeper of the St. Augustine Lighthouse. Keeper Harn and his wife Kate, along with their daughters, became the first residents of the Keepers' House. Life at a light station was busy, and everyone would help tend to the light and grounds. One aspect of this was to greet and entertain visitors. The Harn children loved hearing stories from the outside world as Kate served lemonade on the porch of the Keepers' House.

The Harn family lived and worked at the light station from 1876 until 1889. After William's passing, Kate served as the Second Assistant before moving the family into town and later returning home to Maine. The photograph above was taken at the Harn family home in Maine during the 1920s. Among those pictured are Kate and five of her six daughters.

"Restaurant Rivals: Irvine vs. Taffer" (discovery+ - series premiere, March 3)

Robert Irvine and Jon Taffer, who typically work together to save failing restaurants, now go head-to-head in competition. In each episode, a coin toss determines which restaurant they will individually flip, where they will have 24 hours to remodel, change menus and improve staff. In the end, a group of dining guests visit each location to declare which provided the best quality of food, service and atmosphere.

Alice Krige, Elsie Fisher and Nell Hudson also star. (ORIGINAL)

Have a byte - cooking apps you can download right now

It goes without saying that we all can get bored eating our own cooking day in and day out. And especially in winter and the isolation of the pandemic, that distaste can turn to outright dissatisfaction.

Luckily, there is a wealth of foodie knowledge to be had that's only as far away as your cellphone. As more and more apps appear online every day, the culinary thrillseeker has never had more resources from which to draw in their never-ending search for meal ideas that excite the palate. The following are a few of the ones worth checking out.

Tasty: From digital content creator BuzzFeed comes this app it calls "your new cooking coach," offering up more than 4,000 recipes and cooking videos along with features such as a step-by-step instruction mode, a "My Recipes" page where users can store their favorite recipes and a search function that allows users to search by ingredients, cuisine or social occasion. It's handy and free but available only for iPhone and iPad.

Recipes by Cook'n: This oldie but goodie (it was created in 1992 by a starving college student) uses artificial intelligence to identify a user's personal taste preferences and recommend recipes that are a match. It also has a recipe keeper that organizes favorite recipes, functions that allows users to add recipes via dictation or taking a photo of the recipe and the ability to import recipes from Pinterest. Plus a whole lot more. It's free and available for iPhone and iPad.

NYT Cooking: Fans of The New York Times food section will want to check out this ad-supported app for Android, iPhone and iPad that allows users to search and save more than 19,000 recipes from its pages, featuring beautiful photography, and easy-to-follow instructions. It also has monthly outstanding recipe recommendations.

MyFridgeFood: The title says it all. With this unique and quite useful app, a user can input all the ingredients they have in their kitchen and then the app will make recipe recommendations based on that data. The user can then click on the recipe and get cooking details. The app itself is free and available on Android, iPhone and iPad though users will have to buy a subscription.

Allrecipes Dinner Spinner: Crowdsourcing is behind this adsupported app for iPhone and iPad, which offers up recipes, reviews and videos from Allrecipes community members. There are also personalized recommendations, a customizable search function and the abilities to save favorite recipes and create shopping lists
