This is the end for 'This Is Us'

For those who didn't believe "This Is Us" would end after six seasons, believe it now, for the time has come.

Creator and executive producer Dan Fogelman always had the Pearson family's time-jumping saga planned for a predetermined period, which reaches its conclusion with the NBC drama's finale Tuesday, May 24. For the much-honored, widely acclaimed show that has been built on surprises, it's no shock that the contents of the final episode are being kept a mystery, though clues have been dropped to loyal viewers.

"It's hard ending something you love," Fogelman allows. "I don't know that everybody feels right now it's the right place to end it, because I think if we could all snap our fingers and just magically have more of this, we probably would ... but this has very much been the plan. Sterling (K. Brown, an Emmy winner for playing the series' Randall) used to come into my office and be like, 'It's six seasons, right? Is that really what you're thinking or ... .' And I was like, 'No. We're doing six seasons. That's the road map.'"

Co-star Milo Ventimiglia – whose Jack Pearson died during the show's run, though he has continued to be seen in flashbacks – maintains there isn't "a pressure so much as there's just an enjoyment" to drawing "This Is Us" to a close. "I know there's expectation, but beyond that, reading what we've already held in our hands, it's going to deliver. It's truly, truly going to deliver.

Mandy Moore agrees. The actresssinger who has gone through an extensive age transformation in playing Jack's wife Rebecca says, "It's (been) such a gift to go to work every day and tell these stories and recite these words. I get to look in the eyes of these extraordinary people, Justin (Hartley, alias Kevin Pearson) and Chrissy (Metz, who plays Kate) and Jon (Huertas, aka family friend Miguel) and Sterling. We're truly a family, so in that sense, there's such an ease to just being able to look at each of them and tell them the truth of what these words really are."

Brown is certain that the strong connections forged among the stars of "This Is Us" will last for a long time. "I've still got your phone numbers," he tells his fellow actors during a press event. "Like, I can still call Mandy Moore, which gives me some credibility. But to not be able to see you every day, I'll miss you. I'll miss the story that we've had a chance to tell with one another. And I can't wait to do an 'E! True Hollywood Story' (looking back at the show). It's going to be awesome!"

What's Available NOW On

"227"

Much of the action in this 1985-90 NBC sitcom unfolds on the large stone front steps of the titular Washington, D.C., apartment building, where the residents' discussions would then drive the storylines of the episodes. Marla Gibbs, Hal Williams, Alaina Reed-Hall, Jackée Harry and Regina King head the cast.

"Movie: Look at Me: XXXTentacion"

The young Florida rapper's inner circle speaks out for the first time since his shooting death in 2018 in this feature-length documentary from director Sabaah Folayan ("Whose Streets?," "Pier Kids") that gives an inside look at his tumultuous coming-of-age using never-before-seen footage and comments from those who knew him. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: A Taste of Hunger"

From Denmark comes this drama about a couple who sacrifice everything to obtain the highest possible honor — a Michelin star — for their restaurant in Copenhagen. Katrine Greis-Rosenthal ("A Fortunate Man") and Nikolaj Coster-Waldau ("Game of Thrones") star as the couple, Maggie and Carsten, for director Christoffer Boe ("Reconstruction").

"Shoresy"

Jared Kesso is executive producer, writer and creator of this six episode spinoff of the Canadian comedy "Letterkenny," in which he also reprises his character of Shoresy, who joins a senior AAA hockey team in Sudbury, Ontario, on a quest to never lose again. Tasya Teles, Harlan Kytwayhat and Blair Lamora also star. (ORIGINAL)

Past favorites are 'Back to Win' in Season 12 of 'MasterChef'

There will be a better class of contestants – and thus a high standard by which they're dishes are judged – when "MasterChef" returns for its 12th season this week.

Titled "Back to Win," the new season that opens up Wednesday, May 25, on Fox, brings back some of the most memorable and talented chefs from the show's history. In all, 20 all-stars from seasons past, including two "MasterChef Junior" competitors, will be given the chance to prove they have what it takes, facing the toughest challenges and the most stringent scrutiny of judges Gordon Ramsay, Joe Bastianich and Aaron Sanchez.

In the end, the winner claims the "MasterChef" title along with a $250,000 grand prize and a complete state of the art kitchen from Viking.

"It's like seeing familiar faces," Bastianich says, "so you know the personality, you know the cooking ability. A lot of them shocked us in how much they evolved over the years. Some of them disappointed us but you get right into the meat of it very quickly because you don't have that whole get-to-know-you intro period that's very common on 'MasterChef.' So it's like a family reunion, for lack of a better example."

And these are all folks who have gone on to bigger and better since their last appearance, opening restaurants and catering services, appeared on television, written books and made names for themselves in the industry. So they're full-blown professionals now, and the judges will view their creations through that prism.

"I stop judging and tutoring as I would an amateur home cook," Bastianich explains, "and I start treating them like a line cook in my restaurant and that can be very severe. ..."

"It's just like I walked into my restaurant," he continues. "I see a guy cooking and I see how he holds the saute pan, I see how he plates the dish, I taste the dish. I hold them to that professional standard – of a line cook who makes $22 an hour or $60,000 a year that's cooking professional food that I sell for $30-40 a plate. That's the standard."

And those standards will apply as well to the former "MasterChef Junior" chefs, who for the first time will be competing as adults. For his part, Bastianich welcomed their youthful energy.

"That was the big shocker, too," he says, "the juniors and sometimes bringing the level way higher than the adults. So that was great. It was interesting to see how far some of them make it. Very, very interesting variable putting the kids with the adults. It makes for a great dynamic."

"Troppo"

This joint U.S./Australia crime thriller series stars Thomas Jane ("The Expanse," "Hung") as Ted Conkaffey, an ex-cop accused of a disturbing crime who flees and hides out in the tropics of Far North Queensland. There, he gets drawn into investigations of a wild murder and a missing person alongside a complicated woman (Nicole Chamoun, "The Gloaming") with secrets of her own. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Gone Girl"

Adapted by Gillian Flynn from her own bestseller, director David Fincher's well-spun screen version was one of 2014's most-discussed films. A man's (Ben Affleck) wedding anniversary is marked by his wife's (an Oscar-nominated Rosamund Pike) disappearance, and as the investigation proceeds, he looks more and more like a suspect ... with his attitude definitely not helping his case. Tyler Perry and Neil Patrick Harris co-star.

"Movie: Emergency"

A chase all over town ensues when two college seniors about to embark on an epic night of partying find a drunken woman passed out in their apartment in this comedy from director Carey Williams ("RJ"). RJ Cyler ("I'm Dying Up Here"), Donald Elise Watkins ("Black Box") and Sebastian Chacon ("Penny Dreadful: City of Angels") star. (ORIGINAL)

"Movie: Kick Like Tayla"

From Australia and first-time documentarian Andrew Garrick comes this hourlong film that celebrates one of that country's most recognizable athletes, Tayla Harris, who balances successful careers in boxing and soccer with her personal life as she strives for greatness amid much media and social controversy. #### "Obi-wan Kenobi" (May 25)

From Lucasfilm comes this limited series that picks up 10 years after the events of "Star Wars: Revenge of the Sith," where Obi-Wan Kenobi (Ewan McGregor) faced his greatest defeat — the downfall and corruption of his best friend and Jedi apprentice Anakin Skywalker (Hayden Christensen), who turned to the dark side as evil Sith Lord Darth Vader. Moses Ingram, Joel Edgerton, Bonnie Piesse, Kumail Nanjiani also star. (ORIGINAL)

"We Feed People" (May 27)

From National Geographic, director Ron Howard and producer Brian Grazer comes this documentary that chronicles the global effort of renowned chef and humanitarian José Andrés and his team at the nonprofit World Central Kitchen, as they circle the globe to provide healthy food to those affected in disaster zones. (ORIGINAL)

"Bad Boys" (May 27)

Two mismatched Miami cops — one footloose and cocky, the other a henpecked family man — must switch identities to get the cooperation of the sole witness to a murder and reclaim a consignment of drugs stolen right from under their precinct's "nose." Martin Lawrence, Will Smith and Tea Leoni star in this 1995 comedy.
